Mission Statement
The Arboretum Foundation promotes, protects, and enhances the Washington Park Arboretum for current and future generations by strengthening and building a diverse and engaged community of donors, volunteers, and advocates.

Vision Statement
The Arboretum is a highly treasured, widely used community asset and a horticultural, environmental, recreational, and cultural resource for the region.

About the Foundation
Founded in 1935, the non-profit Arboretum Foundation raises funds and manages membership and volunteer programs to promote, protect, and enhance the Washington Park Arboretum. The Foundation provides essential support for Arboretum operations and activities, including arboriculture, maintenance, seasonal gardeners, education, and collection restoration. In 2016, the Foundation also assumed the primary support role for the Seattle Japanese Garden.

For some of us, turning 90 years old is a milestone reached in full maturity. For the Arboretum, it’s still just the early days of a long and vital life that will reach far into the future. Our celebration of the Strong Roots and the Bright Future of this remarkable public space is well underway.

We kicked off 2024 with a successful “Botanical Birthday Bash” gala at the Northwest Flower & Garden Festival in February. And we followed that up in April with an enhanced version of our annual Earth Day event, featuring a volunteer work party in the morning and fun activities for the public in the afternoon. Next up is a free, outdoor summer concert series.

Beyond these fun and engaging events, this 90th year marks the countdown to our centennial in 2034. WSDOT awarded the contract for the final phase of the SR 520 Bridge Replacement Project in March of this year, and when that work concludes later this decade, the 28 acres currently used for construction staging will revert back to the Arboretum. Together, we have the rare opportunity to imagine what this new park space in the urban heart of our city could be, and to take action to fully realize the potential—not unlike the community did 90 years ago when the Arboretum was created! Our recently completed community survey was a first chance to hear your ideas, and there are sure to be exciting days ahead.

Behind the scenes, we have been working diligently with our partners at Seattle Parks and Recreation and the UW Botanic Gardens to build a shared governance structure that can ensure that long and vital future for the Arboretum. By combining the institutional strengths of our partners with the entrepreneurial spirit of the Foundation, we will be able to meet the challenges of adapting to a rapidly changing climate and serving a rapidly growing and diversifying community.

There are many more things to celebrate as well: a refreshed meadow and new cherry trees in the Japanese Garden; planning for improvements at the Woodland Meadow; a post-pandemic revival of school field trips and volunteer programs; a healthier Arboretum creek with the promise of more clean water from the Headwaters project; and so much more.

Thank you for being part of our bright future!

Music in the Arboretum
The theme of our fundraising efforts this past year has been You Belong at the Arboretum. We have heard from you that this message is resonating—and we are seeing the results! Our membership program is going strong, and we are pleased to welcome many new members who’ve been loyal Arboretum users and are now first-time supporters! We value each and every visitor, volunteer, member, and donor who participates in the life of this wonderful place.

In August 2023, we launched a new summer event series—Music in the Arboretum—that helped widen the appeal of the park among members of the community. Hundreds of guests brought picnic blankets and chairs to the Graham Visitors Center to enjoy jazz from the Jose Gonzalez Trio and African music and dance from Gansango. Look for more summer music this year as part of our Arboretum@90 celebrations.

One of the benefits of membership at the Steward level and above is an invitation to our monthly guided tours, Walks & Talks. These early-evening events are an opportunity to stroll the Arboretum with knowledgeable guides and learn about the plant collections and inner workings of the place. This past year, participants learned about the Magnolia Collection, toured Rhody Glen, spent time with the amazing horticulture staff, and more.

The 2023 Gifts and Greens Galore holiday sale on December 2 and 3 set yet another record, raising more than $33,000 for the Arboretum—an increase of $8,000 over last year’s record-breaking total! Lovely weather on the Saturday boosted turn out, and loyal shoppers lined up early—as they’ve done for decades—to get first pick of our handmade wreaths. Our annual Arbor Circle Celebration, recognizing our leadership-level members, took place shortly afterwards in early December. Guests were treated to a festive evening in Wisteria Hall, with music provided by members of the Garfield Jazz program.

On February 13, 2024, the Foundation’s annual Opening Night Party—a Botanical Birthday Bash—provided a celebratory kickoff to the Arboretum’s 90th year. A total of 325 guests attended the party and helped us raise $430,000 in support of core programs at the Arboretum. Guests enjoyed a preview of the show gardens at the Northwest Flower & Garden Festival, opportunities to purchase raffle tickets and fun experiences, and live music—including a memorable performance of The Beatles tune “Birthday.”

During the party program, leaders of the three Arboretum partners came together on stage to celebrate the past, present, and future of this vital green space. We also introduced our theme for the upcoming year: Strong Roots, Bright Future. The theme inspires our work and helps illustrate the impact made by early Arboretum advocates. With a loyal and strong supporter base, we can enable stewardship today and build a more sustainable, inclusive Arboretum of tomorrow.

We will continue to celebrate our first 90 years and launch initiatives counting down to our centennial and beyond. Please join us for a cupcake at one of our many Arboretum@90 events this year (see arboretumfoundation.org/events).
Projects and Planning

With funding from the Washington State Legislature, the Arboretum Foundation and UW Botanic Gardens launched a broad community survey on Mother’s Day 2023. The goal was to understand the needs and preferences of both current and future users of the Arboretum, with a focus on identifying and removing barriers. The survey ran until mid-August 2023, and more than 5,000 members of the public filled out our questionnaire.

We hired Seva Workshop to conduct the survey. Outreach included online questionnaires, in-person intercepts at pop-up events, and focus-group interviews. Key findings were that the Arboretum is loved and visited by many throughout the region but that our visitors are predominantly white, as well as older and wealthier than Seattle’s overall population. Key recommendations for broadening our user base included removing transportation barriers, expanding public programming and facilities, and investing in a sense of belonging for all community groups.

In July 2023, we co-hosted a public event with our City and UW partners celebrating the renovation of the “Tot Lot” playground at the Lynn Street entrance to the Arboretum. Lots of toddlers and their caregivers attended and enjoyed the beautiful new woodland-wildlife-themed play structure, plus live music, a bubble machine, and free lemonade and cookies. In August 2023, renowned Seattle based environmental sculptor John Grade installed his latest work outdoors at the Arboretum. Entitled “Union,” it is comprised of 6,300 individual cast-resin parts suspended from two large nets spanning 100 feet between eight trees at a trail junction southwest of the Magnolia Collection. The sculpture is a magnified representation of the growth rings of a western red cedar and is designed to respond to and interact with its environment. It will remain in the Arboretum for about five years.
A public celebration of “Union” took place in late September and featured free tours of the artwork, live music, and more. The artwork is being curated by UW Botanic Gardens and was sponsored by the Arboretum Foundation, Arboretum Foundation Unit 26, the Aldarra Foundation, Madison Park Garden Club, and a group of generous private individuals.

In the fall of 2023, the Arboretum Foundation supported a proposal to implement Washington State’s Cultural Access Program in King County through councilmanic action—a majority vote of the King County Council. In December 2023, the Doors Open legislation passed unanimously. Through a 0.1% sales tax increase, Doors Open will raise $90 million annually for science, heritage, and arts programming. The funds will create transformative access to educational programs for all King County residents.

In November, we co-hosted a public meeting at the Graham Visitors Center presenting preliminary design plans for the Japanese Garden North Wall and Pavilion Project (see page 13). The following month, we hosted a second public meeting at the Visitors Center, presenting preliminary design concepts for the Woodland Meadow Project, which reimagines the current Crabapple Meadow as a year-round gathering and celebration space. Representatives from all three Arboretum partners and the design firm Mithun were on-hand to answer the public’s questions about the improvement of the meadow, which is unusable for much of the year due to poor drainage.

The Arboretum partners are working with local non-profit Friends of Arboretum Creek (FOAC), and other stakeholders to improve the ecology of the creek and watershed in and around the park. A key initiative is the Headwaters Project, which will help restore year-round water flow to Arboretum Creek by reconnecting it to two groundwater seepages in the neighborhood uphill from the Japanese Garden, while also protecting the Garden from flooding. In spring 2024, the project reached the 60 percent design phase. The Foundation will continue to help FOAC secure funding for the completion of this exciting work.
Our Volunteer Community

Our volunteer programs continued to flourish this past fiscal year, returning ever closer to pre-pandemic levels. In 2023–24, more than 550 volunteers donated over 12,500 hours of service, nearly double last year’s tally!

The volunteer-run Cloney-Harris Plant Nursery and Pat Calvert Greenhouse continued to rebuild their inventories and help raise funds for the Arboretum. Along with selling plants throughout the growing season, the nursery and greenhouse hosted two large sale events. The Fall Plant Sale in September 2023 was the first in-person version of the sale since 2019, and it raised more than $7,300 for the Arboretum. In April 2024, the annual Spring Plant Sale raised more than $13,000 for the Arboretum, a 40-percent increase over last year’s total!

Foundation volunteers played a huge role in the success of our Gifts & Greens Galore sale, in December 2023, helping with all aspects of the event—including the crafting of the sale’s ever popular holiday greens. (See page 6.) And more than 40 volunteers helped out at our Botanical Birthday Bash gala in February 2024 (see page 7), helping with registration, promoting our silent auction items, and showing our guests how to celebrate in style!

Our Mary Ellen Mulder Arboretum Gift Shop volunteers worked hard to help us provide excellent customer service to Arboretum visitors. They are dedicated ambassadors of the Arboretum and the Foundation’s mission. Often, their passion and dedication go far beyond their weekly shifts: This year, two of our shop volunteers built a brand new pegboard-style sticker wall to display all types of stickers and pins.

As always, the Garden Stewards worked hard every Tuesday and Thursday during the season assisting the horticulture crew in caring for the plant collections. In 2023–24, we hosted work parties for 15 corporate and organizational groups at the Arboretum. The volunteers pulled weeds, spread mulch, and enjoyed a fun, team-building activity in the outdoors. Several of this year’s groups helped to prepare the site for the new John Grade sculpture, weeding and mulching a large area around the installation (see page 8).

A number of the groups also returned in spring 2024 to participate in our annual Earth Day at the Arboretum event. More than 150 volunteers teamed up with the Arboretum horticulture staff to pull noxious weeds, spread mulch, and beautify our little slice of the planet! They worked on seven different restoration projects around the park, hauling a total of 36 cubic yards of weeds and spreading 56 cubic yards of mulch. As part of the Arboretum’s 90th birthday celebration, the volunteers received cupcakes at the end of their shift.

Each year, we recognize two of our many amazing volunteers through annual awards. At the 2023 Annual Meeting in June, we honored Larry Hubbell with our Volunteer Legacy Award for his longstanding and passionate commitment to the Arboretum. Larry serves on the Foundation board and is co-founder of the Friends of Arboretum Creek, a non-profit working to restore the park’s watershed (see page 9). At the joint Foundation/UW Botanic Gardens Volunteer Appreciation Party in October 2023, we honored Jim Olson as our Volunteer of the Year. Jim has been a volunteer with the Pat Calvert Greenhouse program for 10 ten years (see him in the wreath-makers photo on page 5) and is known from bringing kindness, good humor, and generosity to our volunteer community.

Volunteer legacy Award: Larry Hubbell and his wife, Shelley, at the 2023 Annual Meeting.

It was another busy year for the Arboretum Foundation Units. Thanks to Units 1-75, 5, 26, 29, 86, and 95 for contributing funds for Arboretum projects. For instance, Unit 26 made a generous donation to help pay for plants for the new bed directly across Arboretum Drive from the Visitors Center. Unit 95 pitched in to ensure the Opening Night Party invitations were stuffed and stamped for this year’s event. Thanks also to Unit 86, our Japanese Garden docents, for sponsoring the Opening Night Party. We send a fond farewell to Unit 80 as their members turn to focus on individual contributions and volunteer support for the Foundation.
Japanese Garden Update

As one of the most unique public gardens in the region, the Seattle Japanese Garden at Washington Park Arboretum continues to be an important sanctuary for people to connect with nature, culture, and art. More than 100,000 visitors came to the Garden this past year. We also presented a total of 104 tea ceremony demonstrations, with 1,054 guests participating. A total of 115 free guided tours were offered by the dedicated volunteers of Arboretum Foundation Unit 86, and we provided 17 cultural programs during Free First Thursdays and Family Saturdays.

The Garden Party, our biggest fundraiser, takes place every two years—and 2023 was a party year! Festival for the Senses was held on July 20, under a blue summer sky. More than 200 guests enjoyed percussion music by the group arx duo, while savoring bento made with local, seasonal ingredients and sake from Japan. An exhibit of indigo dye art by Awonoyoh was also part of the event. Proceeds from the biennial fundraiser support affordable public access to the Garden, as well as the Garden’s specialized needs, including its volunteer stewardship program.

Also in July, a Seattle Japanese Garden gardener, Jose Gonzales, participated in a Work Exchange Program with the Portland Japanese Garden, where he spent a week honing his skills in the art of stone setting, dry-garden setting, maple pruning, fence making, and more. The exchange was co-sponsored by the Arboretum Foundation.

As part of a safety update, the Arboretum Foundation is helping fund the installation of an emergency egress on the northwest corner of the Garden. This gate will provide an alternate exit at the other end of the Garden in case of an emergency. Once completed, a safety plan for the staff and volunteers will be shared, and a training session will be provided.
In partnership with Seattle Parks and Recreation, the Arboretum Foundation is developing a plan to reimagine the north end of the Japanese Garden. Steps include reconstructing the crumbling stone wall on the north side of the pond, modifying the pathways in this area to improve accessibility, and adding a new pavilion structure that was envisioned by the original Garden designer Juki Iida in 1959 but never realized.

Preliminary design concepts and plans—created by Hoshide Wanzer Architects and Berger Partnership—were presented at a community meeting at the Graham Visitors Center in November 2023. In addition to making critical infrastructure and accessibility improvements, the Japanese Garden North Wall and Pavilion project will greatly enhance the Garden’s educational and cultural programs. With our current projected fundraising and permitting timeline, initial construction could occur as early as 2025.

During the winter closure of 2023–24, eleven new flowering cherry trees were planted in the meadow above the Moon Viewing Platform, following the completion of a year-long soil and turfgrass restoration project. The funding for the tree planting came via a gift to the Arboretum Foundation from the family of a long-time Garden volunteer, Nobuko Anderson. Two hybrid cultivars, Prunus ‘Accolade’ and ‘Snow Goose’, comprise the new display, and the trees were covered in pink and white blossoms this spring.

On Saturday, March 2, 2024, a flowering plum tree (Prunus mume ‘Bungo’) was planted in the Garden courtyard to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Japan-America Society of the State of Washington. This tree symbolizes the strong and resilient roots in our community, a commitment to building bridges for the next generation, and a continuing friendship between the United States and Japan.
Recognizing the Camellia Circle
The Camellia Circle embraces the idea of constant renewal within the Seattle Japanese Garden. These donors are committed to maintaining the beautiful design we were gifted and stewarding it into the future with thought and care.

Andrew Pardini joined us in February 2024 as our Operations Coordinator. He is passionate about helping in his community and has worked at other non-profits, most recently the Pacific Science Center.

Jana Robbins came aboard in September 2023 as our Garden Stewards Assistant. A former teacher, she is currently pursuing training in sustainable landscape management at Edmonds College.

Hally Swift joined us in November 2023 as Assistant Director of Finance. She oversees finances both at the Foundation and its Arboretum partner at the UW Botanic Gardens. Her previous job was Director of Finance at the Burke Museum.

Staff Update

In 2023–24, we welcomed three new members to the Arboretum Foundation staff.
